Date: 11-15-2021

An indictment must "be a plain, concise and definite written statement of the essential facts constituting the offense charged." Fed. R. Crim. P. 7(c)(1). "An indictment is sufficient if it: 1) 'contains the elements of the offense intended to be charged,' 2) 'sufficiently apprises the defendant of what he must prepare to meet,' and 3) allows the defendant to 'show [] with accuracy to what extent he may plead a former acquittal or conviction' in the event of a subsequent prosecution." United States v. Rankin, 870 F.2d 109, 112 (3d Cir. 1989) (quoting Russell v. United States, 369 U.S. 749, 763-64 (1962)). The indictment is "generally sufficient" when it "set[s] forth the offense in the words of the statute itself, as long as 'those words of themselves fully, directly, and expressly, without any uncertainty or ambiguity, set forth all the elements necessary to constitute the offense intended to be punished.'" Hamling v. United States, 418 U.S. 87, 116, 94 S.Ct. 2887, 41 L.Ed.2d 590 (1974) (quoting United States v. Carll, 105 U.S. 611, 612, 26 L.Ed. 1135 (1882)). The Court must take each count (including paragraphs incorporated from other counts) "as a whole," read it "reasonably," and give it "fair construction," but may not ignore the precise manner "in which it is drawn. United States v. Schramm, 15 F.3d 156, 162 (3d Cir. 1996)

STATEMENT OF THE FACTS

See ORDER Page 5 the district court "I explicitly instructed the jury that it could base any Count 3 conviction only on Count 2 - armed bank robbery. Accordingly, even though the indictment and Jury Verdict sheet (Doc. Nos. 1, 86) do not specify whether Count 3 could be predicated on Count 1 or 2, the jury was instructed that only Count 2 was a crime of violence and that a guilty verdict on Count 3 had to be based on Count 2 alone. "This was a correct statement of the law."

GIVEN THIS INSTRUCTION TO THE JURY WAS ERROR

Appellee demonstrates by making emphasis on Count two of his indictment, Count two states that: The Grand Jury further charges that: Paragraph 2 and overt acts 1 through 4 of count one of this indictment are incorporated here by referencing (armed bank robbery) When instructing the jury the trial court redacted the terms Further Charge Paragraph 2 and overtacts 1 through 4 of Count one of this indictment are incorporated into (armed bank robbery)" I will send a copy of the indictment to the Jury room with you to aid you in your deliberations together with a verdict sheet that corresponds to the charges in the indictment. Keep in mind that the indictment represents a formal method of charging someone with the commission of a crime. See (J.C. Page 157). For the Jury appellant was charged with Paragraphs incorporated from other counts, 'Count one'. Thus, given the Jury was provided with all of the predicates listed in the unredacted indictment, this inadvertent error confused the Jury, due to the discrepancy between the indictment and Jury instructions. Clearly supporting appellant's position of tangible confusion. However, it is apparent that the district court did not consider this crucial evidence in rendering its decision see (ORDER page 5). However, contrary to the district court's reasoning the Jury instructions which are taken as a whole; 'indictment'. See United States v. Schramm, 75 F.3d 156, 162 (3d Cir. 1996). as well as all the other relevant Shepard documents demonstrated by a preponderance of the evidence that it was error for the district court to have made such a conclusive finding. See United States v. Washington, 629 F.3d. 410 (4th Cir. 2011) (applying a Preponderance of the evidence standard in modified categorical cases to district court's evaluation of Shepard documents. In reviewing all the Shepard documents available in this case i.e., the Unredacted indictment, Jury instructions, and Verdict Form, See Omarghirih v. Holder, 775.3d.192 n.10 (4th Cir. 2014), the reliance on Jury instructions alone cannot suffice to support the district court's decision on appellant's DAVIS claim. (See ORDER) Stating that "the Jury instructions conclusively establish that [appellant] was convicted only of armed bank robbery." as no argument was made nor instructions given to the Jury as to the incorporated Paragraph from other counts (i.e. Count one). Moreover, the Jury was given a copy of the unredacted indictment to aid them in their deliberations "the items under each count" and Verdict sheet whether it's verdict as to whether appellant was "guilty or not guilty of all Charge listed on the grand Jury indictment" (including Paragraphs incorporated from other counts). This more than demonstrates the Jury confusion given it's exposure to the "extrinsic information" contained in the unredacted indictment. See -

United States v. Siegleman, 467 F. Supp. 2d. 1253, 1276 (N.D. Ala. 2006) (Finding that unredacted indictment necessarily constitute extrinsic information), See also, United States v. Coleman, 552 F. 3d. 853, 857 (D.C. Cir. 2009) (exposure to unredacted ~~in~~For indictment reversible error); United States v. Walker, 557 F. 2d. 741 (10th Cir. 1977) (reversing and remanding case because of the potential for jury confusion created by the conflicting language in the indictment and the jury instructions). the district court appears to dismiss as irrelevant that the jury was provided with the ~~und~~ unredacted indictment which charged "Count two" "THE GRAND JURY FURTHER CHARGES THAT: 1. Paragraph 2 and overt acts 1 through 4 of count one of this indictment are incorporated here. "in reference to armed bank robbery, thus, ignoring the affect this error had on the jury's general verdict. See (BENTLEY Doc. NO. P. 151-169). Stating that "in reading count two the district court did not read to the jury (including paragraphs incorporated from other counts 'conspiracy'. However, it is now apparent that ~~they~~ the jury has this information squarely placed before it in the unredacted indictment. thus, at this late hour it is not enough to simply acknowledge that the jury was provided this extrinsic information. See (J.C.P. 157) ("Count-two of the indictment includes Paragraphs incorporated from other counts, 'conspiracy language'). What is of import is the fact that in this Shepard document the jury was exposed to this extrinsic information, and more importantly, is the fact that the jury rendered a general verdict making it impossible to determine "not what might have been done but by what in fact, was done." See United States v. Barrington, 662 F.2d. 1046, 1050 (4th cir. 1981) ("Legal consequences ordinarily flow from what has actually happened, not from what [the jury] might have done from the advantage of hindsight [+] - the precise manner in which an indictment is drawn cannot be ignored") (quoting United States v. Sanabria, 437 U.S. 54, 65-66 (1978)).

CONCLUSION

In Short, under Count two of the indictment the essential elements of Count one was charged into Count two 'Paragraphs incorporated by reference' the essential elements of a conspiracy charge, which set forth what must be proved under a conspiracy offense. Which was not instructed to the Jury, it is well settled that a defendant has a Fifth amendment right to be tried only on charges presented in an indictment returned by a grand Jury... However, narrow the scope of the indictment, where thorough proof of a lesser offense offered at trial, or by redaction, does not offend the notice and review functions served by a grand Jury's issuance of an indictment.

The trial Court "I explicitly instructed the Jury that it could base any Count 3 conviction on Count 2 - armed bank robbery - accordingly, even though the indictment and Jury Verdict (Doc. nos. 1, 86) do not specify whether Count 3 could be predicted on Count 1 or 2, the Jury was instructed that only Count 2 was a crime of violence and the guilty verdict on Count 3 had to be based on Count 2 alone." See (ORDER Page 5) This is the point of error that appellant submit under the need to correct a clear error of law.

No argument was made nor instruction given to the Jury as to the including of the essential elements of a conspiracy charge incorporated by reference from the other charged count, 'Count one' the charging Paragraph of Count one 'Paragraph 2 and overt Acts 1 through 4. This was error, the court must take each count (including Paragraphs incorporated from other counts "as a whole, "read it" reasonably, "and give it "Fair Construction, "but may not ignore the "Precise manner" in which it is drawn. See United States v. Schramm, 75 F.3d 156, 162 (3d Cir. 1996) also See United States v. Howard, 271 F. Supp. 2d 79, 89 (D.D.C. 2002) recognizing that "if one ~~can~~ count incorporates Paragraphs from another count, the incorporated Paragraph to may be considered in determining whether a count is properly [charged as an offense"]

Therefore, an "examination of all the documents for review the Unredacted indictment, Jury instructions, and Verdict Form. two of which solidifies the DAVIS et error.

Appellant submit these facts to clarify purportedly overlook by the district court when denying appellant DAVIS claim.

Appellant submits this error that the district court did not instruct the jury by taking Count two and reading it as a whole by including Paragraph incorporated by reference from another count 'Count one'. The district court ignored the "Precise manner" in which Count two has been drawn. Appellant submits by 'reading Count two as a whole, Count two charges Conspiracy to commit armed bank robbery, which the government concedes that Conspiracy to commit armed bank robbery no longer qualifies as a Crime of Violence. under DAVIS. Each count of an indictment must be regarded as if it were a ~~sp~~ separate indictment and must stand on its own content without dependence for its validity on the allegations of any other count not expressly incorporated. We have previously stated that the validity of an indictment is ~~determinant~~ determined from reading it as a whole. But that does not mean factual allegations in one count are somehow automatically incorporated into other counts. To the contrary, courts have explained that when allegations in one count are incorporated into another count under Fed. R. Crim. P. 7(c), such incorporation must be express, there is no need to look beyond the borders of a particular count to determine what offense is charged; indeed, it is generally improper to do so except where a count incorporates other allegations expressly, as permitted by Fed. R. Crim. P. 7(c)(1). While it is true that an allegation made in one count of a indictment may be incorporated by reference in another count of the indictment, any such incorporation must be expressly done. Each count of an indictment must stand on its own, and cannot depend for its validity on the allegations of any other count not specifically incorporated.

Appellant has shown under a manifest error of law that there was error in the district court decision in denying appellant DAVIS claim. appellant ask this court to correct this error by granting his DAVIS claim or issue a Certificate of Appealability, or to issue a new trial under 59(B) so that appellant may be tried only on charges brought by the grand jury under the Fifth amendment, right to indictment.

Respectfully submitted

FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

v.

TYRONE BENTLEY

Crim. No. 10-525

ORDER

Pro se Inmate Tyrone Bentley seeks § 2255 relief, arguing that his conviction on Count 3 of his Indictment should be vacated following the Supreme Court's decision in United States v. Davis, 139 S. Ct. 2319 (2019); (Doc. Nos. 150, 152, 164); 28 U.S.C. § 2255. The Government opposes his Motion, which I will deny. (Doc. No. 168.)

I. LEGAL AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

On July 3, 2010, Bentley and an accomplice robbed a bank. PSR at 3. Bentley brandished a stun gun; his accomplice brandished a handgun. Trial Tr. 32:20-33:1, 36:6-37:13, 48:8-50:12, 52:3-54:7, Jan. 4, 2012; Trial Tr. 43:9-25, 81:5-82:3, 132:20-133:1, Jan. 5, 2012. No one else was involved in the robbery. PSR at 3-6. Bentley took some $38,000 but was caught after fleeing from the police first in a minivan and then on foot. Id. at 4-6.

On August 12, 2010, the grand jury charged Bentley with conspiracy to commit armed bank robbery in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 371 and 2113(d) (Count 1); armed bank robbery and aiding and abetting in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 2113(d) (Count 2); and using and carrying a firearm during and in relation to a crime of violence and aiding and abetting in violation of 19 U.S.C. § 924(c)(1) (Count 3). (Doc. No. 1.)

Count 3 (which Defendant now challenges) provided as follows:

On or about July 3, 2010, in Feasterville Trevose, in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, defendant Tyrone Bentley, and a person known to the grand jury as bank robber #2, knowingly carried and used, and aided and abetted the carrying and use of, a firearm, that is, a handgun, during and in relation to a crime of violence for which they may be prosecuted in a court of the United States, that is, conspiracy to commit armed bank robbery, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 371, and armed bank robbery and aiding and abetting, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 2113(d) and 2. In violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 924(c)(1) and 2.

(Doc. No. 1.)

Trial took three days. In charging the jury, I instructed them as follows respecting Count

3:

Count 3 of the indictment charges the defendant, Tyrone Bentley, with using and carrying a firearm during a crime of violence, which is a violation of federal law. The offense alleged in Count 2 is a crime of violence. To find the defendant guilty of the offense charged in the indictment you must find that the Government proved each of the following three elements beyond a reasonable doubt. First, that the defendant committed the crime of armed bank robbery, as charged in Count 2 in the indictment; second, that during and in relation and in the commission of that crime the defendant knowingly used or carried a firearm. The phrase "uses or carries a firearm" means having a firearm or firearms available to assist or aid in the commission of the armed bank robbery....Third, that the defendant used or carried the firearm during and in relation to the armed bank robbery....In this case the Government alleges that the defendant aided and abetted the alleged principal in committing armed bank robbery and carrying and using a firearm during a crime of violence as charged in Counts 2 and 3 of the indictment. In order to find the defendant guilty of armed bank robbery and carrying and using a firearm in furtherance of a crime of violence because he aided and abetted the alleged principal in committing these offenses you must find that the Government proved beyond a reasonable doubt each of the following four requirements. First, that the alleged principal committed the offenses charged by committing each of the elements of the offenses charged as I have explained those elements to you in these instructions....Second, that the defendant knew that the offense—the offenses charged were going to be committed or were being committed by the alleged principal; third, that the defendant knowingly did some act for the purpose of aiding the alleged principal in committing the specific offenses charged and with the intent that the alleged principal commit those specific offenses; and, fourth, that the defendant's acts did in some way aid the alleged principal to commit the [sic] offenses.

Trial Tr. 171:11-172:9, 174:7-175:10. Jan. 6, 2012.

The Parties jointly submitted a verdict sheet which I approved and gave to the jury. The portion respecting Count 3 provided as follows:

Count Three: Using and Carrying a Firearm During a Crime of Violence and Aiding and Abetting[.] We, the jury, unanimously find the defendant, Tyrone Bentley...” (Doc. Nos. 69, 86.)

The jury convicted Bentley of all charges. Trial Tr. 183:9-186:9; (Doc. No. 86.) On August 22, 2012, I sentenced Bentley to 408 months’ incarceration: 60 months on

Count 1; 108 months on Count 2, to be served concurrently with Count 1; and a mandatory minimum term of 300 months on Count 3, to be served consecutively to the terms imposed on Counts 1 and 2. (Doc. No. 107). On June 13, 2013, the Third Circuit affirmed. (Doc. No. 110.) Bentley sought § 2255 relief, which I denied. (Doc. Nos. 118, 129.) The Third Circuit subsequently granted Bentley permission to file the instant Motion. (Doc. No. 149.)

Bentley now seeks release under § 2255, arguing that his conviction on Count 3 is invalid. 28 U.S.C. § 2255; (Doc. No. 150.) The Government opposes his Motion. (Doc. No. 168.) On September 7, 2021, I appointed Carina Laguzzi to represent Bentley. (Doc. No. 174.) On October 20, 2021, she filed a counseled Reply to the Government’s Response. (Doc. No. 175.) The matter has been fully briefed.

II. LEGAL STANDARD

I may grant relief under § 2255 where: (1) “the sentence was imposed in violation of the Constitution or laws of the United States,...was in excess of the maximum authorized by law, or is otherwise subject to collateral attack;” or (2) “the court was without jurisdiction to impose such sentence.” 28 U.S.C. § 2255(a). “[W]here the record affirmatively indicates that the claim for relief is without merit,” I may deny relief without holding an evidentiary hearing. Page v. United States, 402 F.2d 932, 933 (3d Cir. 1972).

III. DISCUSSION

Bentley has submitted numerous, discursive memoranda, making it difficult to determine the substance of his Motion. (See Doc. Nos. 151-52, 164-66, 169-73.) I must construe Bentley's filings liberally. Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97, 106 (1976); Higgs v. Att'y Gen. of the U.S., 655 F.3d 333, 339 (3d Cir. 2011). Bentley appears to argue that because the Indictment and the Jury Verdict Sheet do not specify whether his § 924(c) violation (Count 3) must be predicated on armed bank robbery (Count 2) or conspiracy to commit armed bank robbery (Count 1), I must presume that Count 3 was predicated on the lesser conspiracy charge. (Doc. Nos. 152, 164.) He further argues that if his § 924(c) conviction was predicated on the conspiracy charge, it must be vacated because conspiracy is not a crime of violence.

A. Crime of Violence

Section 924(c) carries a mandatory minimum consecutive sentence for "any person who, during and in relation to any crime of violence...uses or carries a firearm, or who, in furtherance of any such crime, possesses a firearm." 18 U.S.C. § 924(c)(1)(A). Bentley argues that his conspiracy offense was statutorily defined as a crime of violence only under § 924(c)(3)(B)—the "residual clause." (Doc. No. 122.) In United States v. Davis, the Supreme Court held that the residual clause was unconstitutionally vague. 139 S. Ct. at 2324. Bentley thus argues that conspiracy cannot be a predicate crime of violence under § 924(c)(3).

The Government concedes that conspiracy to commit armed bank robbery no longer qualifies as a crime of violence. (Doc. No. 168 at 5.) The Government argues, however, that Bentley was properly convicted on Count 3 based on the predicate crime of armed bank robbery. The Third Circuit has held that armed bank robbery is a crime of violence under § 924(c)(3)'s surviving elements clause. United States v. Johnson, 899 F.3d 191, 203-04 (3d Cir. 2018) (citing 18 U.S.C. § 924(c)(3)(A)).

B. Bentley's Crime of Violence

Bentley's § 924(c) conviction was predicated on armed bank robbery. Once again, in defining armed bank robbery, I explicitly instructed the jury that it could base any Count 3 conviction only on Count 2—armed bank robbery. Trial Tr. 171:11-172:9, 174:7-175:10, Jan. 6, 2012. Accordingly, even though the Indictment and Jury Verdict Sheet (Doc. Nos. 1, 86) do not specify whether Count 3 could be predicated on Count 1 or 2, the jury was instructed that only Count 2 was a crime of violence and that a guilty verdict on Count 3 had to be based on Count 2 alone. This was a correct statement of the law. See Johnson, 899 F.3d at 203-04; see also Davis, 139 S. Ct. at 2324.

In these circumstances, there was no possibility that the jury based its Count 3 verdict on Count 1. See Weeks v. Angelone, 528 U.S. 225, 234 (2000) (“A jury is presumed to follow” the trial judge’s instructions). Moreover, given that the evidence showed without contradiction that Bentley and his confederate were both active participants (and, indeed, the only participants) in the robbery, that Bentley brandished a stun gun, and that his confederate brandished a firearm, there could be “no reasonable possibility that the jury based its § 924(c) convictions only on the conspiracy as opposed to the bank-robbery counts.” United States v. Wilson, 960 F.3d 136, 151 (3d Cir. 2020) (citing United States v. Duka, 671 F.3d 329, 356 (3d Cir. 2011)) (internal quotations omitted); see also United States v. Bledsoe, No. 20-2733 2021 WL 688807, at *1 (3d Cir. Jan. 11, 2021).

In sum, there was no error, and I will deny Bentley's motion.

IV. CONCLUSION

I will deny Bentley's § 2255 Motion without an evidentiary hearing. Because reasonable jurists would not debate the correctness of my ruling, I will not issue a certificate of appealability.

See Slack v. McDaniel, 529 U.S. 473, 483–84 (2000).

AND NOW, this 29th day of October, 2021, upon consideration of Defendant Tyrone Bentley's pro se Motion to Vacate, Set Aside, or Correct Sentence under 28 U.S.C. § 2255 (Doc. No. 150); the Government's Response to Motion to Correct Sentence under 28 U.S.C. § 2255 (Doc. No. 168); Defendant's counseled Supplemental Reply to Government's Response (Doc. No. 175); Defendant's supplemental pro se submissions (Doc. Nos. 151-52, 164-66, 169-73); and all related submissions, it is hereby ORDERED that:

1. Defendant's Motion (Doc. No. 150) is DENIED;
2. A Certificate of Appealability SHALL NOT ISSUE;
3. The CLERK OF COURT shall CLOSE this case.
